

President Wilson's speech in behalf of Geneva, however, is wholly responsible for the selection of that city as the capital of the league of nations. This picturesque and ancient city, which has been selected for the capital of the league, is on the banks of the Rhone in Switzerland at the southern end of Lake Geneva. The town is divided into two parts by the Rhone. On the left bank lies the "Old Town," seat of the government and center of traffic, while on the right is the quarter of "St. Gervais."

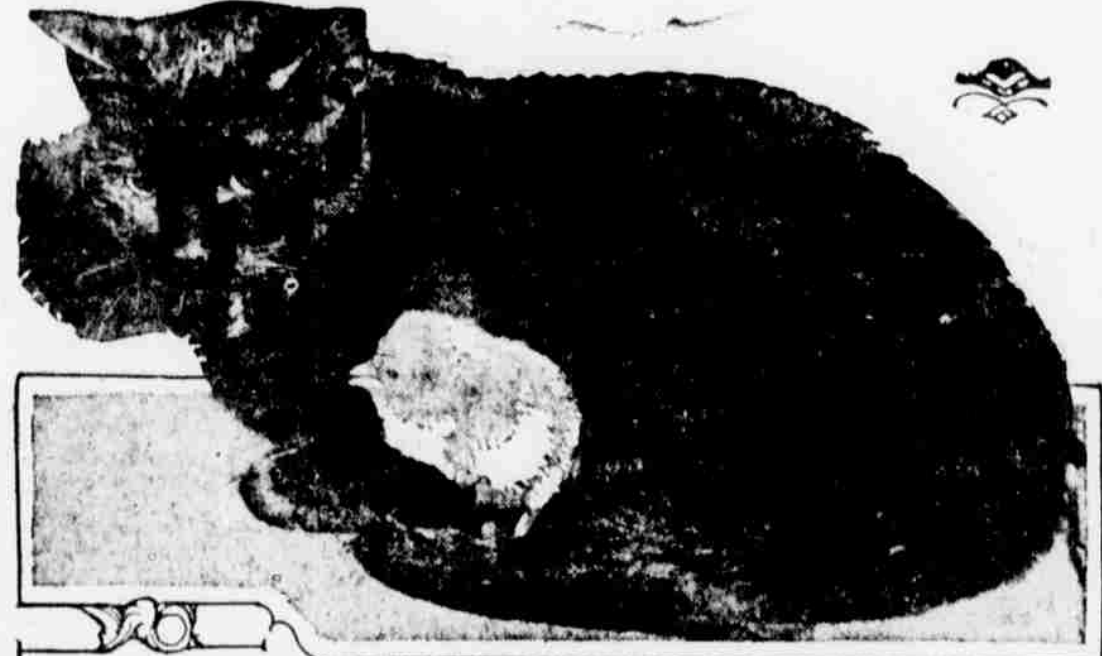

Miss Catherine du Pont is a charming and beautiful young artist who is being entertained by notable Washington families, under whose patronage her exhibition of the famous and little known Noh dances of Japan will be given. Miss du Pont is the first accidental to bring to this country the ancient ceremonial dances of the Sanufal and she is to make her debut here in the near future.

The above photo is believed to be the latest of President Wilson. It was taken just prior to his recent illness. The photo is unusual because it shows the president with a cane.

The photograph shows a group of the five socialist leaders who have been selected as foreign members to the German national assembly at Weimar. These men report the proceedings of the meetings to their respective countries. The photograph was taken before the Royal theater, where the assembly meets. The men in the group are M. Sacerdote of Italy, J. Sazoe of England, Dr. Little Lajoff of Hungary, S. de Vries of Holland and Mr. Price of England.

Maybe this year it will be a black kitty instead of an Easter bunny who brings the Easter basket filled with candy eggs and little chicks. At least there is one cat who has become interested in Easter chicks. When a little fluffy yellow one was deserted by her wicked mother hen with a brood of six others, an old black family cat rescued the little thing.

A printed calico frock, more demure than the wearer.

Representative William A. Ayers, only democrat elected to the sixty-sixth congress from Kansas, has joined those who are dissatisfied with the selection of Champ Clark for the minority leadership in the house.

Miss Pauline McVey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McVey of Washington, Red Cross nurse who went overseas, has returned home full of praise for the U. S. boys and anxious to notify the American mothers that their sons were "game clear through."

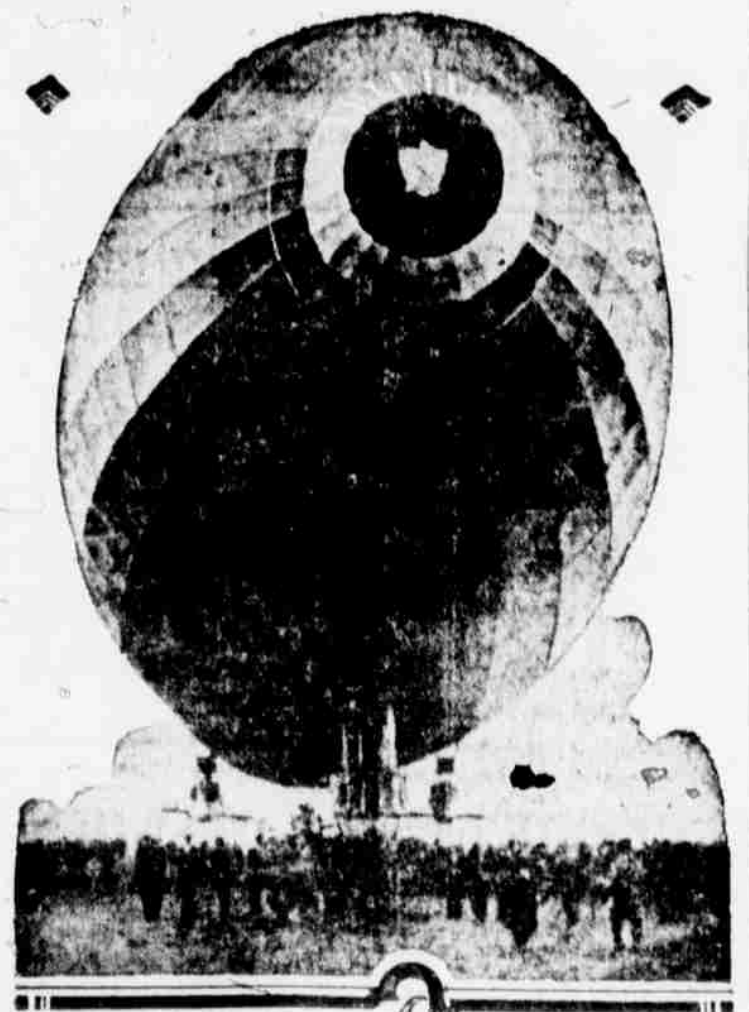

Sir Donald MacLean has succeeded Mr. Asquith as the new leader of the British Liberal party. Mr. Asquith was defeated for parliament at the general elections last winter.

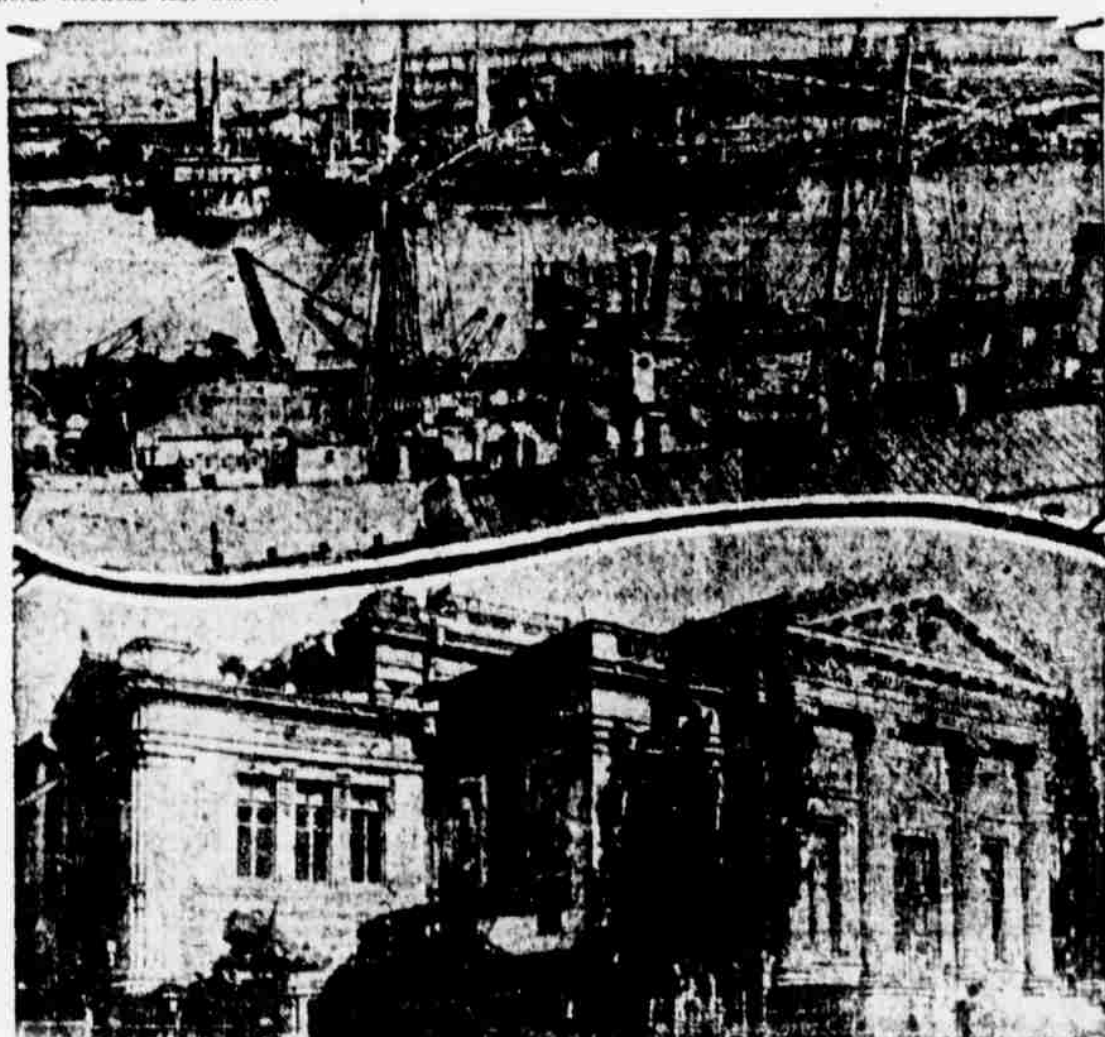

Rabbi Abraham Aaron Udelschvitch was recently elected and installed as chief rabbi of the Orthodox Jewish congregations in America. He is the first to hold his office since 1902.

Elsie Ferguson, the beautiful Artercraft star who has not appeared on the stage for several seasons, having devoted her entire attention to motion pictures, is now searching for a play.

An unusual view of the world's largest dirigible, the British dirigible, taken the day it was launched. It took thousands of workers to hold the huge ship to the ground. Reports say it that this ship, which is a combination of dirigible and dirigible, may take part in the coming trans-Atlantic venture.

The latest dispatches, the advance of the bolsheviks is likely to force the allies to evacuate Sebastopol, which is on the Black sea, near the southern extremity of the Crimea. Our photographs show the harbor of the city with Russian warships stationed there and the Sebastopol Museum of History.
